- A must-have book for all those passionate about travel photography and architecture
- Featuring textual contributions by Berlin-based fashion designer Errolson Hugh and Adam Katz Sinding

Reporting live from "everywhere," photographer Adam Katz Sinding (formerly known as Le 21ème) travels around the globe to document the fashion zeitgeist. An Instagram hit, @aks's lens captures fashion weeks, runway idols, the next big trends, tastemakers, and — in particular — street style. His first teNeues book *This is Not a F*cking Street Style Book* featured a curated collection of some of his best images, taken both backstage at the shows and of the style-setters on the streets. In this new publication, Sinding widens his scope and explores culture and landmarks with the same sophisticated eye he uses to photograph fashion. In the last year, he has travelled through over 35 countries across the globe, snapping a breathtaking number of beautiful photos that capture the essence of a place as only he would recognise it. Along with his pictures, the book includes contributions from Errolson Hugh and offers a unique insight into the peculiar mind of Adam Katz Sinding himself, his obsessive exercising habits, and the cultural phenomenon he has become over the years.

Adam Katz Sinding, formerly known as Le 21ème, is an American-born, Copenhagen-based photographer. A true innovator in the realm of street-style photography since 2003, Sinding spends the majority of the year documenting the fashion zeitgeist. When he is not photographing fashion events in all corners of the globe, he shoots major campaigns and editorials, gives lectures, and embarks on epic cross-country cycling trips.
