- The latest in a series of handy and informative pocket guides to modern and contemporary architecture in cities around the world
- Includes entries for 85 noteworthy buildings in New York City
- The cover incorporates a clever folding map with thumbnail photographs which correspond to marked locations

New York City is a metropolis in a constant state of metamorphosis. Amidst continuous construction, the redevelopment of the existing cityscape plays a fundamental role in the evolution of the Big Apple as a place to live, work, and visit. This pocket guide to highlights of modern and contemporary architecture features 85 famous skyscrapers, cutting-edge projects with abandoned infrastructure, post-industrial buildings, and inventive low-cost housing models. Each building is accompanied by text describing its history, use, materials, and architectural profile, in addition to directions, and public accessibility.

Aurora Maria Riviezzo is an architect and independent researcher. She works as an editor and freelance curator, collaborating with architectural studios and Italian publishing houses. Her personal research centres on the history of modern and contemporary architecture, with a focus on Naples after the Second World War. She recently took part in a residency sponsored by La Biennale di Venezia for under-30 architecture historians. In the past, she has collaborated with Forma Edizioni on their guide dedicated to Barcelona.
