- This edition of Norman Rockwell's popular story is accompanied by a biography of Rockwell himself and a short contribution from Mary Whalen Leonard, who was the girl who posed for the pictures in the book

A girl wakes up and tidies her braids before just another ordinary summer day, but some surprises lie ahead! Here is one of Norman Rockwell's most popular works, paired with a rhyming text that's perfect for reading aloud or sharing with a grown-up. In classic Rockwell fashion, the almost two dozen pictures will elicit wry smiles of recognition, from young and old, at childhood's everyday pleasures. At the back of the book is a short biography of Rockwell, as well as a note by Mary Whalen Leonard, who, as a young girl more than sixty-five years ago, posed for the charming series of pictures.

Norman Rockwell is America's best-known, best-loved illustrator. While still in his teens, he was hired as art director of Boys' Life, the official publication of the Boy Scouts of America. Eventually he produced work for such magazines as Life, Look, and The Saturday Evening Post, for which he eventually produced 322 covers. In 1977, the artist received the nation's highest civilian honour, the Presidential Medal of Freedom.
