

Rooted in the Hood

An Intimate Portrait of New York City's Community Gardens

Anna Angelidakis

ISBN	9781943532766
Publisher	ORO Editions
Binding	Hardback
Territory	World excluding USA, Canada, Australasia & Asia (except Japan; China non-exclusive)
Size	178 mm x 178 mm
Pages	298 Pages
Illustrations	250 color
Price	£24.95

- This book will be of interest to travellers, visitors, artists, muralists, urban gardeners, ecologists, historians, urban anthropologists, architects, and lovers of New York City
- A stunning and eclectic selection of photographs

Rooted in the Hood

is a photo essay celebrating the community gardens of New York City and the people who create, cultivate, and enjoy them. The late 60s and 70s witnessed the devastation of New York City, with many buildings in low-income areas left unattended, burned, and reduced to rubble. Drug dealers, gangs, and junkies soon moved in making those neighbourhoods unsafe to live.

This book is about ordinary people, dreamers, and visionaries rising against these unsafe conditions by clearing empty lots, planting trees and vegetables, and slowly creating small havens for the community. By drawing attention to these local gardens, the book brings awareness to the importance of green spaces, not only in New York City, but across the country and around the world.

Anna Angelidakis - Book design, Photography, Author

Anna is a B.F.A graduate in Graphic Design Communications from the School of Visual Arts. She has worked as an Art Director for companies such as Condé Nast, Bonnier, Hodes Advertising, Netjets and King & Spalding LLP. Anna has received numerous design awards and accolades of excellence in her field. Her passion remains combining words and photography into a unified experience.

Cullen Thomas - Copy Editor

Cullen is a curious author and editor. His diverse work has appeared in the New York Times Magazine, the Washington Post, The Daily Beast, Salon, The Rumpus, The Sonora Review, World Hum, Current Biography, and Penthouse. He is the author of the memoir Brother One Cell (Viking) and he positively loves a good garden.

Donald Murphy - Map Illustrator

TJ Gemignani - Photo retouching

